Should a government agent be legally enabled to enter, seize, alter and destroy property based solely on a Minister being satisfied that an Emergency exists or may occur in the future?

No

Are the measures taken during a declared Emergency (up to $1 million fine and one year imprisonment) appropriate for people defending their property during an Emergency?

No

Should the government have enduring powers that supersede any laws during a declared pandemic (such as Covid-19), without oversight by the legislature or public?

No

Do you think that densification of single-family dwelling neighbourhoods will relieve the housing crisis?

No

Should the provincial government have the authority to override Official Community Plans by issuing building permits?

No

Should building permits for high-rise housing be determined by proximity to transit hubs (e.g. train stations, rapid transit stations, bus stops) without concern for the requirements of car owners or city development plans?

No

Are you aware that individual property rights have been replaced by indigenous peoples' ownership for all BC land and associated resources (e.g. oil, gas, minerals, lumber) under DRIPA?

Yes

Are you aware that DRIPA originated as UNDRIP, an initiative of the United Nations, not Canada, and that BC is the only province to have passed this initiative into law?

Yes

Does DRIPA address reconciliation appropriately, either partially or in full?

Should the Carbon Tax be repealed?

Yes

Should CO2 emissions be a consideration in creating government policies, such as taxation?

No

Do you support a parent's right to be fully involved and informed of gender issues while that child is in school?

Yes

Do you support the current policy that promotes books illustrating graphic sex to be made available in schools and libraries, so that children can readily access information about gender or sexual intercourse?

No

Do you support SOGI123 in schools?

No

Has the provision of free narcotics reduced the number of drug addicts in British Columbia?

No

Has the Safe Supply programme contributed to an increase in drug overdoses in the province?

Yes

Are drug addicts selling the hydromorphone (Dilaudid) or morphine tablets that they acquire from free prescriptions in order to buy more potent drugs, like Fentanyl?

Yes

Does enabling the use of street narcotics by patients in hospitals create a safety issue for nurses and other patients?

Yes

Are you in favour of the supplying free drugs to addicts in the Safe Supply programme?

No

What is the top priority, in your riding, that you intend to champion when elected?

The crises we face are interconnected; businesses struggle due to a lack of housing for employees, and healthcare access is hindered by governmental financial mismanagement. Provincial forest management often overlooks local expertise in ecology, forestry, fire services, and wood products. All these systems are at risk of collapse without immediate intervention. We need greater local autonomy, involvement of community expertise, stricter oversight of financial expenditures, and resources focused on Kootenay Central rather than diverted to urban areas.
